Introduction

The Social Studies 30–1 Diploma Examination is designed to reflect the issues-centred, multiple-perspectives approach and skills-based emphasis of the Social Studies (10-12) Program of Studies. In the Social Studies 30–1 program, the focus is on the key issue of “To what extent should we embrace an ideology?” In addressing this key issue, students will explore four related issues, four general outcomes, and numerous specific outcomes.
Examination Security

All Social Studies 30–1 Diploma Examinations will be held secure until they are released to the public by the Minister. No secure diploma examination is to be previewed until they are released to the public by the Minister. No secure diploma examination is to be previewed, discussed, copied, or removed from the room in which the examination is being written. However, for the January and June examinations, teachers will be allowed access to a teacher perusal copy for review purposes one hour after the examination has started.

For mathematics and science diploma exams: All diploma examination booklets must be kept secure.

For humanities diploma exams: All diploma examination booklets must be kept secure. The only exception is for the humanities Part A: Written Response in the January and June administrations.

Unused copies of all secure examination booklets must be returned to Alberta Education.

For more information about teacher perusal copies and examination security, please refer to the General Information Bulletin.

Time Limits on Diploma Examinations

All students may use extra time to write diploma examinations. This means that all students have up to 6 hours to complete Part A of the Social Studies 30–1 Diploma Examination, and 5 hours to complete Part B, if they need it. The examination is nevertheless designed so that the majority of students can complete Part A within 3 hours and Part B within 2½ hours. The examination instructions state both the designed time and the total time available.

Extra time is available for diploma examinations in all subjects, but the total time allowed is not the same in all subjects. For more information about accommodations and provisions for students, please refer to the General Information Bulletin.
Maintaining Consistent Standards over Time on Diploma Examinations

A goal of Alberta Education is to make scores achieved on examinations within the same subject directly comparable from session to session, to ensure fairness to students across administrations.

To achieve this goal, the examination has a number of questions in common with a previous examination. Common items are used to find out if the student population writing in one administration differs in achievement from the student population writing in another administration. Common items are also used to find out if the unique items (questions that have never appeared in a previous examination) differ in difficulty from the unique items on the baseline examination that sets the standard to which all students are held.

A statistical process called equating adjusts for differences in difficulty between examinations. Examination marks may be adjusted depending upon the difficulty of the examination written relative to the baseline examination. Therefore, the resulting equated examination scores have the same meaning regardless of when and to whom the examination was administered. Equated diploma examination marks are reported to students. More information about equating is available here.

Because of the security required to ensure fair and appropriate assessment of student achievement over time, Social Studies 30–1 Diploma Examinations will be fully secured and will not be released at the time of writing.
Diploma Examinations: Multiple Forms

As part of Alberta Education’s commitment to fairness to students and flexibility in the writing of diploma examinations, there may be two distinct forms (versions) of diploma examinations in some subjects during major administrations (January and June). The two forms are equated to baseline examinations to ensure that the same standard applies to both forms. Both forms adhere to the established blueprint specifications and are reviewed by a technical review committee.

To facilitate the analysis of school-level results, each school receives only one examination form per subject. In subjects offering a translated French-language examination, both forms are administered in English and in French.

Field Testing

Field testing is an essential stage in the development of fair, valid, and reliable provincial examinations. Field testing is a process of collecting data on questions before they become part of a diploma examination. Potential diploma examination questions are administered to students in diploma courses throughout the province to determine the difficulty level and appropriateness of the questions. Each field test requires a large student sample to provide the examination developers with reliable information (statistical data and written validation comments from teachers and students).

How do field tests help teachers and students?

Teachers obtain each student’s score promptly, gaining useful information about their students’ performance. Students benefit from writing a test that duplicates some of the experience of writing a diploma examination. Field tests provide students and teachers with examples of the format and content of questions that may appear on diploma examinations. Finally, because of field testing, students, teachers, and parents can be reassured that the questions on diploma examinations have undergone a rigorous process of development, improvement, and validation.

How are field-test data used?

The data received from field tests indicate the validity, reliability, and fairness of each question. Questions that meet specific standards are selected for use on future diploma examinations.

Some questions or sets of questions may not initially perform as well as we require. These questions may be revised and field tested again. Revisions are influenced by the written comments of students and teachers, who provide valuable advice about the appropriateness of the questions, adequacy of writing-time limits, test length, text readability, artwork/graphics clarity and suitability, and question difficulty.

Humanities field tests

While most field tests in humanities subjects are in conventional paper form, some field tests are partially online (“hybrids”). Hybrid field tests combine a paper copy of sources or readings with questions read and answered online using Alberta Education’s Quest A+ system.

Teachers have a 24-hour period to peruse hybrid field tests and are provided with data on how their students performed. These data include the proportion of students who chose each alternative. Test items are blueprinted to program of studies outcomes, which allows teachers to use field-test results to learn more about their students’ strengths and areas for improvement.

Once logged into the hybrid field test on the online delivery system, teachers have the same length of time to peruse the test as their students did to write it. Teachers might choose to log into the field test, submit the confidentiality form, and then log out of the test, so that they can finish perusing the test after receiving their students’ data.
It is important to note that the security of field-test items remains vital to the administration of diploma examinations. Participating teachers must commit to maintaining the security of field-test items. In the case of hybrid field tests, paper copies of sources or readings are mailed to schools. Prior to the test, the paper copies must be kept secure by the school principal, and after the administration of the test, all paper copies must be mailed back to Alberta Education.

More information about field-test registration deadlines, administration, and security is available here.

How can teachers request field tests?
Teachers requesting field tests must have a Public Authentication System (PAS) account. All requests are made through the Field Test Request System. Further information, including the closing dates to request and administer a field test, may be obtained here, or by contacting Field.Test@gov.ab.ca. Practice tests are available online.

Practice Tests

To give students an opportunity to practise diploma examination-style questions and content, Alberta Education produces practice tests for most subjects that have a diploma examination. Students can access these practice tests using Alberta Education’s online test delivery system.

Special-format Practice Tests

To give students an opportunity to practise diploma examination-style questions and content in Braille, audio, large print, or coloured print versions, Alberta Education produces special-format practice tests for all subjects that have a diploma examination. Alberta schools with registered Alberta K–12 students may place orders for these tests. Braille versions are available in English and, by request, in French. All tests are provided free of charge, but limits may be placed on order volumes to ensure access for all students.

For the greatest benefit, special-format practice tests should be written under conditions similar to those of the corresponding diploma examination. The same rules regarding the use of resources and devices should be followed.

Braille versions must be returned to Alberta Education after use.

Part B: Multiple Choice will be secured for the January and June 2021 administrations.

Classroom Assessment

The nature of classroom situations permits teachers to assess students using a broad range of assessment instruments which reflect the Alberta Social Studies Kindergarten to Grade 12 Program of Studies.

A Guide for Students Preparing to Write the Social Studies 30–1 Diploma Examination and Examples of the Standards for Students’ Writing are posted on the Alberta Education website.
Part A: Written Response

Description

Part A: Written Response, worth 50% of the total diploma examination mark, consists of two writing assignments:

- Source Interpretation
- Position Paper

Lined pages

Authorized references

Students writing Part A: Written Response are allowed to use the following print references:

- an authorized English and/or bilingual dictionary (students writing in French may use a French-language dictionary)
- a thesaurus
- a writing handbook from the following list:
  - A Canadian Writer’s Reference (D. Hacker), 2nd edition only
  - Checkmate: A Writing Reference for Canadians (J. Buckley)
  - English Language Arts Handbook for Secondary Students (Alberta Education)
  - Fit to Print: The Canadian Student’s Guide to Essay Writing (J. Buckley)
  - The St. Martin’s Handbook for Canadians (A. Lunsford et al.)
  - The Writing Process (Gehle et al.)

The reference texts used must not contain appendices that include social studies content (e.g., historical timelines, the structure of the Government of Canada, Canada’s court system, or the structure of international organizations such as the United Nations and NATO).
The following dictionaries are authorized for students to use while writing Part A: Written Response:

- Collins Paperback English Dictionary
- Collins-Robert Paperback French Dictionary
- Gage Canadian Dictionary
- Harper-Collins French Dictionary (French-English)
- Le Petit Robert 1
- Merriam-Webster’s School Dictionary
- The Canadian Oxford High School Dictionary
- The Concise Oxford Dictionary
- The Houghton Mifflin Canadian Dictionary of the English Language
- The Oxford Dictionary of Current English

Students and supervising examiners must ensure that extraneous material is not taken into the examination room.

Suggested word count ranges

All Part A Humanities written-response assignments contain a suggested word count range. Students can use the suggested word count range, along with the suggested time limit, as a guideline when responding to the assignment. The range is not a cap, and students who handwrite will not be expected to hand-count their words.

The suggested word count ranges below are based on various sources, including the student exemplars chosen for the Examples of the Standards for Students’ Writing, and on discussions with psychometricians and curriculum staff. They also reflect discussions with teachers during exam development regarding the expectations for each written-response assignment.

Written-response Assignment Suggested Word Count Ranges

Social Studies 30–1 Assignment I: 500–1400 words
Social Studies 30–1 Assignment II: 750–1600 words

Note: There are approximately 300 words per page, depending on the font size used and other factors. The expectations for student responses, including written responses, are unchanged.
Description of Assignment I: Source Interpretation

Assignment I: Source Interpretation requires students to demonstrate their skills of interpretation, analysis, and synthesis when presented with a variety of sources.

The assignment is designed to have students

- interpret three sources to demonstrate an understanding of how each source links to liberalism;
- synthesize the relationship(s) that exist among all three sources.

Educators can assist students by providing them with synonyms for links, such as relates, connects, and pertains.

Assignment I: Source Interpretation contains a task which will remain unchanged from administration to administration. The sources will be different in every administration.

Students are expected to develop a response in paragraph form that reflects the quality of thought and communication expected of students completing Social Studies 30–1. Students are not expected to take a position on any of the sources, nor should they.

Value: 20% of the total examination mark

Scoring: Scores contribute to the total examination mark in the following proportions:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Interpretation of Sources</td>
<td>12%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Source I</td>
<td>(4%)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Source II</td>
<td>(4%)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Source III</td>
<td>(4%)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Relationships</td>
<td>6%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Communication</td>
<td>2%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: Within the Interpretation of Sources category, the interpretation of each source will be scored independently. Thus each of the three sources will be worth 4% for a combined total of the 12% assigned to this category.

Zero

Responses that reflect little or no attempt to address the Interpretation of Sources category or Relationships category may receive a score of zero in that category. Scores of zero in both the Interpretation of Sources category and Relationships category will automatically result in a score of zero in the Communication category.

No Response

Students who do not provide a response will receive a no response score.
Description of Assignment II: Position Paper

Assignment II: Position Paper requires students to demonstrate the skills of analysis, evaluation, and synthesis in response to a written source. Students will be presented with a written source that they must analyze to demonstrate an understanding of the ideological perspective(s) reflected in the source. Students must analyze the entire source.

Assignment II: Position Paper requires students to argue a position taken in response to a question regarding the ideological perspective(s) reflected in a written source. Students must support their position using evidence with a theoretical, historical, contemporary, and/or current-events focus.

Assignment II: Position Paper contains a question which will remain unchanged from administration to administration. The written source will be different in every administration.

Students are expected to develop responses in essay form that reflect the quality of logical thought and effective communication expected of students completing Social Studies 30–1.

Value: 30% of the total examination mark

Scoring: Scores contribute to the total examination mark in the following proportions:

- Analysis of Source: 6%
- Argumentation: 8%
- Evidence: 8%
- Communication: 8%

Note: If a score of Limited or Poor is assigned to the Analysis of Source category, scores for the other three categories are capped, with Satisfactory being the highest possible score. The rationale for this cap is that, in some cases, because the student’s Analysis of Source is incomplete or lacks depth, the student has not fully completed the assigned task.

Insufficient

Insufficient is a special category. It is not an indicator of quality. It is assigned to responses that do not contain a discernible attempt to address the assignment or responses that are too brief to assess in one or more scoring categories.

No Response

Students who do not provide a response will receive a no response score.
Social Studies 30–1 Part A: Written Response Blueprint

The Social Studies 30–1 Diploma Examinations are designed to reflect the Alberta Social Studies Kindergarten to Grade 12 Program of Studies. The blueprint below outlines the design of Part A: Written Response and describes the skills to be assessed, the assignments, and the categories of assessment. As well, the blueprint specifies the percentage that each section of the examination contributes to the total mark.

ASSIGNMENT I: Source Interpretation

Value: 20% of the total examination mark
Suggested time: 60 to 75 minutes
Suggested word count range: 500 to 1400 words

Examine all three sources on pages 2 and 3 and complete the following assignment.

Assignment

Examine each source.

Write a response in paragraph form in which you must:

• interpret each source to demonstrate your understanding of how each source links to liberalism

AND

• explain one or more of the relationships that exist among all three sources

Reminders for Writing

• Organize your response

• Proofread your response
Scoring categories and scoring criteria for 2020–2021 Assignment I

INTERPRETATION OF SOURCES (12 marks)

When marking Interpretation of Sources, markers should consider how effectively the student
- interprets each source to demonstrate an understanding of how each source links to liberalism

Note: Students are expected to address all three sources.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Excellent</th>
<th>Interpretation of the source is sophisticated, insightful, and precise, demonstrating a perceptive understanding of links to liberalism.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Proficient</td>
<td>Interpretation of the source is logical, specific, and adept, demonstrating a sound understanding of links to liberalism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Satisfactory</td>
<td>Interpretation of the source is adequate, straightforward, and conventional, demonstrating a generalized understanding of links to liberalism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Limited</td>
<td>Interpretation of the source is incomplete, vague, and simplistic, demonstrating a confused understanding of links to liberalism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poor</td>
<td>Interpretation of the source is scant, inaccurate, and irrelevant, and/or the source is copied, demonstrating little or no understanding of links to liberalism.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Zero</td>
<td>Zero is assigned to a response that fails to meet the minimum requirements of Poor.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: When “and” is used in the marking criteria as part of a list of descriptors, it is important to note that the writing may contain one or more of the descriptors listed. This applies to both Assignment I and Assignment II.
RELATIONSHIPS (6 marks)

When marking Relationships, markers should consider how effectively the student

- explains the relationship(s) that exist among all sources

Note: Students may explain the relationship(s) in one part of the response or the explanation of relationship(s) may be embedded.

<table>

Sample Assignment II task

ASSIGNMENT II: Position Paper
Value: 30% of the total examination mark
Suggested time: 90 to 105 minutes
Suggested word count range: 750 to 1600 words

Analyze the following source and complete the assignment.

Source
A government-controlled economy is essential in order to promote equality. Any movement toward neo-conservative policies will result in increased inequality in society.

Assignment

To what extent should we embrace the ideological perspective(s) reflected in the source?

Write an essay in which you must:

• analyze the source to demonstrate an understanding of the ideological perspective(s) reflected in the source
• establish and argue a position in response to the question presented
• support your position and arguments by using evidence from your knowledge and understanding of social studies

EVIDENCE (8 marks)

When marking Evidence, markers should consider how effectively the student uses evidence that

- is relevant and accurate
- reflects depth and/or breadth

Note: Evidence from social studies may include a theoretical, historical, contemporary, and/or current events discussion.

| Excellent E | Evidence is sophisticated and deliberately chosen. The relative absence of error is impressive. A thorough and comprehensive discussion of evidence reveals an insightful understanding of social studies knowledge and its application to the assignment. |
| Proficient Pf | Evidence is specific and purposeful. Evidence may contain some minor errors. A capable and adept discussion of evidence reveals a solid understanding of social studies knowledge and its application to the assignment. |
| Satisfactory S | Evidence is conventional and straightforward. The evidence may contain minor errors and a mixture of relevant and extraneous information. A generalized and basic discussion reveals an acceptable understanding of social studies knowledge and its application to the assignment. |
| Limited L | Evidence is potentially relevant but is unfocused and incompletely developed. The evidence contains inaccuracies and extraneous detail. The discussion reveals a superficial and confused understanding of social studies knowledge and its application to the assignment. |
| Poor P | Evidence is irrelevant and inaccurate. The evidence contains major and revealing errors. A minimal or scant discussion reveals a lack of understanding of social studies knowledge and its application to the assignment. |
| Insufficient INS | Insufficient is a special category. It is not an indicator of quality. It is assigned to responses that do not contain a discernible attempt to address the assignment or responses that are too brief to assess in one or more scoring categories. |
COMMUNICATION (8 marks)

When marking Communication, markers should consider the effectiveness of the student’s

- fluency and essay organization
- syntax, mechanics, and grammar
- use of vocabulary and social studies terminology

Note: Consider the proportion of error in relation to the complexity and length of the response to the assigned task.

| Excellent | E | The writing is fluent, skillfully structured, and judiciously organized. Control of syntax, mechanics, and grammar is sophisticated. Vocabulary is precise and deliberately chosen. The relative absence of error is impressive. |
| Proficient | Pf | The writing is clear and purposefully organized. Control of syntax, mechanics, and grammar is capable. Vocabulary is appropriate and specific. Minor errors in language do not impede communication. |
| Satisfactory | S | The writing is straightforward and functionally organized. Control of syntax, mechanics, and grammar is adequate. Vocabulary is conventional and generalized. There may be occasional lapses in control and minor errors; however, the communication remains generally clear. |
| Limited | L | The writing is awkward and lacks organization. Control of syntax, mechanics, and grammar is inconsistent. Vocabulary is imprecise, simplistic, and inappropriate. Errors obscure the clarity of communication. |
| Poor | P | The writing is unclear and disorganized. Control of syntax, mechanics, and grammar is lacking. Vocabulary is overgeneralized and inaccurate. Jarring errors impede communication. |
| Insufficient | INS | Insufficient is a special category. It is not an indicator of quality. It is assigned to responses that do not contain a discernible attempt to address the assignment or responses that are too brief to assess in one or more scoring categories. |

Student Performance in Social Studies 30–1: Observations from the Diploma Examination

The following observations made by teachers are presented here to illustrate areas of strength, areas needing improvement, and various approaches taken by students in writing the Social Studies 30–1 Diploma Examination.

Assignment I

• Students should refrain from using information not directly related to their interpretation of the sources.

• Students must demonstrate in their interpretation of the sources that they have considered the sources in their entirety.

• Students need to consider the perspective/point of view of the creator of each source and/or the perspective/point of view of others within the source.

• Some students describe the sources rather than interpreting and demonstrating how the sources link to liberalism.

• Attempting to place each source on a spectrum can prove problematic as not all sources lend themselves to placement on a spectrum.

• While understanding of illiberalism has improved, students must be aware that illiberal practices can only occur in democratic countries.

• Students often attempt to incorporate philosophers/theorists into their interpretations. Not all can do this effectively; students must establish an appropriate connection to the source.

• Students often attempt to take a position on each of the sources. There is no requirement for students to do this, nor will credit be given for this approach.

• Students need to differentiate between classical and modern liberalism in addressing the task.

• Generally, students are improving in their ability to discern relationships.

• Some students have difficulty grasping the irony, satire, or nuances of cartoons.

• Some students have difficulty fully developing their ideas when describing a relationship among all three sources, beyond restating an interpretation of each source.

• Visual literacy skills vary among students.
Assignment II

- Students sometimes use evidence that is inappropriate or extraneous to the given source. It is important to select evidence that can help further argumentation.

- Students must clearly demonstrate an understanding of the perspective presented in the source as a whole, not just a perspective or idea represented by a portion of the source.

- Students at the Proficient and Excellent levels are able to “deconstruct” the source readily and discuss all aspects of it in their response.

- Students use a wide variety of evidence to complete Assignment II. Students that prepare a response ahead of time and try to fit it to the task presented are often not well served.

- In general, students can communicate quite effectively. Sometimes students who word process either forget to use the spell check and grammar check or do not know how to use them. As well, the thesaurus is often used ineffectively, making the communication of ideas quite awkward. It is important for students to know how to properly use the technology provided to them to enhance their writing and to proofread the finished response for final revisions.

- Students are using a wide variety of evidence in their responses. Both depth and breadth of evidence are commonly seen. It has been observed that the depth of some evidence is not what would be expected at the Social Studies 30-1 level.

- Some students at the Satisfactory or lower levels use absolute statements rather than qualifying statements that are often used at the Proficient and Excellent levels in argumentation.

- Students that achieve at the higher levels present strong and clearly defined positions.

- The use of “negative” evidence is acceptable; however, evidence to support a position is required to present a convincing position.

- The equating of “communism” with “dictatorship” by some students is an area of concern.

- While reference to Hitler and Stalin seems to be a favourite among students, it is important to use them appropriately for the assigned task.

- For information, data, theory, or events to function as relevant evidence, a clearly articulated argument must be developed.
Part B: Multiple Choice

Description

Part B: Multiple Choice is worth 50% of the total diploma examination mark and consists of 60 machine-scored questions. Each question is classified according to the knowledge and understanding outcomes of each related issue as well as to the skills and processes outcomes related to either understanding and analysis or evaluation and synthesis. The examination blueprint that follows illustrates the distribution of questions within these classifications.

Questions are based on the key issues and related issues, as well as specific outcomes from the Social Studies (10-12) Program of Studies.

The multiple-choice section of the examination requires students to apply their knowledge and skills. Students must demonstrate that they understand social studies concepts and apply requisite skills and processes.
Social Studies 30–1 Part B: Multiple Choice Blueprint

Part B: Multiple Choice is designed to reflect the Alberta Social Studies Kindergarten to Grade 12 Program of Studies. The blueprint for Part B is shown below.

Rationale for provision of multiple-choice questions

The primary purpose of providing multiple-choice questions in this information bulletin is to offer insights regarding the knowledge and understanding as well as skills and processes students are expected to demonstrate when writing the Social Studies 30–1 Part B: Multiple Choice component.

In their entirety, these multiple-choice questions are not intended to be considered equivalent to an examination form. These questions have not been field-tested in Social Studies 30–1 classrooms and, therefore, no statistical data are available regarding the level of difficulty of each question. Further, the selection of questions for this document has not been guided by an effort to match the proportioning of questions as described in the examination blueprint on page 28 of this bulletin.

These questions have been subject to thorough review by both Alberta Education staff and classroom teachers to ensure that each question has curricular and instructional validity and is written as clearly and concisely as possible. Teachers are encouraged to consider these factors when deciding how to best use these questions to prepare students for the Part B: Multiple Choice component.

Included among the questions provided are eight questions (3, 9, 16, 30, 50, 56, 66, and 71) selected to illustrate the examination blueprint classifications as set out on page 28 of this information bulletin. Each of these questions includes a summary box that identifies:

- Examination blueprint classification
- Program of studies classification

Questions 1 and 2 are based on the following source.

Some scholars have adamantly argued that individuals in the American government in the eighteenth century, such as Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, were significantly influenced by their observations and knowledge of the Haudenosaunee Confederacy to which they had been exposed as members of early colonial American society. These scholars contend that the democratic structures and civil liberties of the United States were developed by these men using their learning of Haudenosaunee Confederacy societies to inform their creation of the foundation documents of the United States. Other scholars dispute such claims, in some cases making the accusation that revisionist history is being created to achieve political aims. These scholars argue that the constitutional foundations for the government of the United States were influenced almost exclusively by ideas that evolved in Western civilization from the time of ancient Greece through the Enlightenment period.

Canadian courts are now making decisions that politicians should have recognized and made years ago. The courts have shown leadership and responsibility where no political will or backbone existed in Parliament….

Recently, the Supreme Court … ruled that potential jurors can be questioned about their racial biases. This decision will have a positive impact on Indian\(^1\) people facing criminal trials. The Supreme Court ruling referred to the case of a British Columbia man whose conviction was overturned because his lawyer wasn’t allowed to question potential jurors. In its decision, the Supreme Court said that when widespread racial bias is shown, it is reasonable to permit lawyers to question potential jurors about their views.

[T]here are people out there who don’t like racial minorities, including Indians. In a democracy, people are entitled to a fair trial, and that includes everyone.

Leadership in this country is not coming out of Parliament, but down Wellington Street at the Supreme Court. The courts are making decisions on issues that the politicians have been avoiding. The Courts are now forcing the governments to act, and to live up to their responsibilities.

THE LEGISLATIVE BRANCH:
Questions 7 to 11 are based on the following two sources.

Source I

The role of government must be to lead, and provide direction for a country. This means that governments will invariably make decisions that will be unpopular, but nevertheless must be made. When political leaders are continually held accountable to the masses they will do what appeases the masses, not necessarily what is right. Opinion poll results become more important than informed thought. The counsel of well-educated persons regarding an issue may be sought, but not heeded if their answers contradict what the masses desire. The ideas of those whose only interest is in doing what is necessary are less valued than are the ideas of those whose first concern is self interest. The consequences for countries guided by such a political system can be catastrophic. Here is a question for supporters of such systems: would you send your country’s army into the field of battle and allow strategic and tactical decisions to be made collectively? If you answer “no” to this question, then why would you allow the governing of your country to be a collective process?

Source II

A government can only have legitimacy if it governs with the consent of the citizens. Autocratic and oligarchic political systems are based on arrogance. An individual in the first system, and an elite in the second, hold the belief that one has a monopoly on wisdom and true knowledge. Whatever scant element of truth there may have been to this assumption in the distant past, times have changed. In a modern age of universal public education, a free and diverse mass media, instantaneous global communication, and the liberty to speak and debate without fear of reprisal, there is a collective wisdom that exists and must be heeded. Supporters of elitist regimes believe that the vast majority of people are short-sighted and self-serving and therefore ill suited to influence decisions that have far-reaching consequences. Even if this belief could be proven true, would not those same human traits exist in authoritarian leaders? Was Stalin’s decision to eliminate many of his best generals, whom he perceived as a threat to his power, short-sighted? Is Robert Mugabe’s first concern the good of Zimbabwe, or the good of Robert Mugabe? Just as accountability to consumers is what ensures that businesses remain innovative, efficient, and responsible, public accountability will ensure that political leaders demonstrate similar traits.

Questions 17 to 20 are based on the following excerpt.

The New Deal programs created a liberal political alliance of labor unions, blacks and other minorities, some farmers and others receiving government relief, and intellectuals. The hardship brought on by the Depression affected Americans deeply. Since the prevailing attitude of the 1920s was that success was earned, it followed that failure was deserved. The unemployment brought on by the Depression caused self-blame and self-doubt. Men were harder hit psychologically than women were. Since men were expected to provide for their families, it was humiliating to have to ask for assistance. Although some argued that women should not be given jobs when many men were unemployed, the percentage of women working increased slightly during the Depression. Traditionally female fields of teaching and social services grew under New Deal programs. Children took on more responsibilities, sometimes finding work when their parents could not. As a result of living through the Depression, some people developed habits of careful saving and frugality, others determined to create a comfortable life for themselves.

African Americans suffered more than whites, since their jobs were often taken away from them and given to whites. In the 1920s, 50 percent of blacks were unemployed. However, Eleanor Roosevelt championed black rights, and New Deal programs prohibited discrimination. Discrimination continued in the South, however, as a result a large number of black voters switched from the Republican to the Democrat party during the Depression.

The Great Depression and the New Deal changed forever the relationship between Americans and their government. Government involvement and responsibility in caring for the needy and regulating the economy came to be expected.

Questions 21 to 25 are based on the following three sources.

The Rise of Classical Liberal Philosophy

Classical liberal philosophers emerged from a class structure with its roots in medieval feudalism. Their society was divided into an aristocratic elite, a rural peasantry, and an urban middle class of educated professionals, crafts persons, and merchants. Classical liberal philosophers regarded this class structure and its related mercantile and craft-guild systems as inhibiting the liberty of individuals and stifling economic innovation and expansion. In general, these early liberal philosophers advocated for reforms that would lessen government regulation and thus create greater freedom for the individual to prosper. The catch-phrases that emerged from this era are familiar to most and include: “invisible-hand” economics, production decisions based on “supply and demand,” a “profit motive” driving innovation and entrepreneurship, and the promotion of “self-reliance.” The influence of these early liberal philosophers on the 19th century was profound. Their ideas are commonly connected to the emergence of the Industrial Revolution.

Source II

The Industrial Revolution

The Industrial Revolution was a period of unprecedented economic growth and of seemingly endless innovation. A host of new machines contributed to the emergence of the factory system and the mass production of an array of consumer goods. A mass market evolved and economic growth occurred on a scale never before experienced. Rapid urbanization took place as people moved to be near the new factories. The owners of these industries emerged as the “nouveau riche,” an economically powerful class threatening the political privileges of the aristocracy. At the other end of the economic scale, another new class, the urban labourers, emerged. For them, life was dreary and dangerous. Poverty and disease were widespread in the hastily built slums of the new cities. As time passed, this class began to organize to create worker organizations that could demand better treatment. Sympathetic intellectuals emerged who called for changes to the economic system to alleviate the suffering of the poor. Calls also came for political reform to create a more democratic government to wrest control from the aristocratic class and have government play a role in addressing conditions of the working class.
The Rise of Modern Liberalism

As the abuses of the industrial era became obvious, and with the threat that, should reform not occur, revolutionary change might occur, a new wave of liberal philosophers emerged. In general, they recognized that in order for the individual to enjoy liberty there was a need for the state to play an economic role. This role could be to use regulations to protect workers and consumers from the excesses of the market system, and to tax revenues to provide assistance for the impoverished and establish state-run schools to ensure that persons of all classes had access to an education. These philosophers also called for democratic reforms to reflect the new realities of an industrial society. They believed that by expanding suffrage, governments would better serve the will of all classes rather than act to protect the privileges of an elite.

Questions 26 to 28 are based on the following newspaper headlines.
Questions 31 and 32 are based on the following excerpt.

“… the question whether it is better to be loved rather than feared, or feared rather than loved. It might perhaps be answered that we should wish to be both; but since love and fear can hardly exist together, if we must choose between them, it is far safer to be feared than loved.”

—Niccolo Machiavelli

Questions 33 and 34 are based on the following two posters.

Poster I

A poster created by the American government during the Second World War.

Poster II

A poster created by the government of the Soviet Union. The caption reads “A tractor in the field is worth a tank in battle.”

Questions 35 to 37 are based on the following excerpt.

The following excerpt is from the spoken recollections of a person of non-Jewish origin who lived in Czechoslovakia. He recalls the situation in his country after Nazi Germany seized control.

The real fear was of denunciation. Suppose you would try to hide a Jewish person. In our city, it was not safe. Somebody would denounce you. So this I hold up as a crime, as a collective crime. Our people were still too antisemitic and even the best, even those who had close Jewish friendships and relationships, were not strong enough to buckle this. And they were not prepared to act. The nice, the good people on whom their Jewish friends could have counted, were the most scared, the most weak, the least prepared to take on this huge, brutal machinery which exploded all around them. We were just not ready to see, understand anything.

Question 39 is based on the following excerpt.

I think that we, as Quebecers, have now reached the point of no return. I am deeply convinced that we can manage on our own. The referendum will be the test. I sincerely hope that in this process of the emergence of a new country, we can keep with our closest neighbours, the confidence, the good faith, and the common interest that history, geography and economics have bestowed upon us.

… As Aboriginal peoples we often confront laws which are not of our making, and often do not respect our values and priorities. We confront laws which have served the interests of those who wished to dispossess us of our lands and resources and often succeeded in doing so.

But we Aboriginal peoples, who have all the reason in the world to feel cheated and ill-treated, have never nurtured a collective desire for retribution. We have never said: Europeans go home. We recognize that we all live together in this land, that we must share, and that in the end our interests are much the same. We want peace, health and wellbeing for our children. We strive for clean water and air, happiness and freedom. We insist on mutual recognition and respect for dignity, fundamental rights, and the principle of the equality of peoples.

And in spite of everything, we are not attempting to secede or to overturn the established order. We would like to be treated fairly and equitably, in genuine partnership, and with friendship.

Questions 53 and 54 are based on the following source.

In democratic states, it is relatively easy to afford every person his or her full array of civil liberties when times are good, troubles few, and stability is the order of the day. Most democratic states have constitutional law obliging the states to ensure the protection of liberties. The situation gets much more difficult, however, when conditions are no longer ideal.

During a time of crisis, such as the onset of a pandemic or an attack by terrorists, democratic states face the potential of a divisive public debate. The issue is straight-forward and can be summed up thus: to what extent should the rights of individuals be restricted during a time of crisis? The answer is far less straight-forward. What constitutes a crisis? What sacrifices can or should be made? Are there certain freedoms that are so essential they can never be compromised? If liberties are compromised now, what assurance is there that they will be restored later? One problem with this great public debate is that while it is held, time is lost so that the speed at which the state can respond to the crisis is slowed. People may resist an action. The courts may strike down an emergency decree. A politician may be reluctant to act for fear of public reprisal when the crisis ends.

It is in situations of crisis that authoritarian states display their great advantage over democratic states. There is no need or allowance for debate. People have limited rights at all times, and since the state employs many agencies of repression, an authoritarian state can respond swiftly and decisively to the crisis without need to heed public sentiment. Through their control of thought and speech, authoritarian states can ensure that there is minimal dissent towards whatever measures are taken.

Questions 57 to 84 do not require the use of sources.
Sample multiple-choice questions

Use the source on the top of page 30 to answer questions 1 and 2.

1. The writer indicates that some scholars researching an issue are concerned that other scholars may be

   A. altering history to suit an agenda
   B. promoting racial and ethnic intolerance
   C. trying to discredit a country’s democratic institutions
   D. seeking to suppress intellectual debate on an issue of importance

2. If this source was being considered for use in a research project, it would be most appropriately used

   A. as a summation of the arguments of one side on an important issue
   B. to identify resources from which research information can be gathered
   C. as a primary document that can be quoted and cited as historical evidence
   D. to establish the context for which exploration of an issue can be undertaken

Use the diagram on the bottom of page 30 to answer question 3.

3. Each of the people identified in the diagram promoted the idea that

   A. the power of the state over actions of individuals should be limited
   B. societies can only prosper and endure when collectivist values are emphasized
   C. the highest priority of governments should be to ensure that the ruling elite maintains political power
   D. because humans are corrupt by nature, their impulses need to be kept under control by an authoritarian leader
4. The writer of Source I argues that courts in Canada

A. are highly critical of the behaviour of politicians
B. are dominated by liberal-minded judicial officials
C. make decisions that have widespread public support
D. make decisions that elected officials are reluctant to make

5. The irony in Source II derives from the expectation that, in democratic states,

A. new legislation must be approved by the courts before becoming law
B. elected officials will not comment on rulings brought down by the courts
C. legislation will be created by people elected to office by the general public
D. appointees to the Supreme Court must be members of the governing political party

6. For which of the following research questions would both sources be most appropriately used as resources?

A. To what extent should the judicial branch of government wield legislative power?
B. To what extent should international pressure influence decisions made by the Supreme Court?
C. To what extent should the media be free to report on the proceedings of human rights cases brought before the Supreme Court?
D. To what extent should the right to free speech be limited by the legislative branch in an effort to preserve public safety and security in time of crisis?

Use the two sources on page 31 and page 32 to answer questions 4 to 6.

7. The speaker in Source I implies that political systems with an emphasis on public accountability may lead to political decision-making that is

A. elitist
B. decisive
C. bureaucratic
D. irresponsible
8. The speaker in Source II argues that technological and social changes have

A. contributed to the downfall of totalitarian regimes
B. allowed the creation of radical political movements
C. eliminated class systems based on economic factors
D. assisted people in becoming politically well-informed

9. With which of the following statements would both speakers most likely agree?

A. Human nature drives most people to embrace collectivist values.
B. Government’s sole purpose is to enhance the liberty of the individual.
C. Political decisions must be made with consideration as to what most benefits the country.
D. Political leadership in a country must be assumed by those with superior intellectual ability.

10. In an effort to influence the opinions of their audience, both speakers

A. use historical examples to challenge assumptions
B. acknowledge that there is no “correct” perspective
C. maintain a neutral point of view regarding the topic
D. use rhetorical questions to challenge common assumptions

11. What issue is most directly addressed by these speakers?

A. Should political leaders interfere in decisions made by military commanders?
B. To what extent should governments control the flow of information to the public?
C. To what extent should government decision-making reflect the will of the people?
D. Should political leaders have limits placed on the number of years they may remain in office?
Use the spectrum on the top of page 34 to answer questions 12 to 15.

Match each of the following statements to its correct position on the spectrum.

12. The anarchist political ideology

13. The concept of “The Divine Right of Kings” in its historical context

14. Enlightenment thinkers, such as John Locke, of the mid-18th century

15. Monarchists during the French Revolution

16. Which of the following terms correctly replaces the question mark in the diagram?

   A. Socialism
   B. Communism
   C. Keynesian economics
   D. Supply-side economics

Use the excerpt on page 35 to answer questions 17 to 20.

17. Information in the excerpt indicates that prior to the New Deal era, American social values most strongly emphasized

   A. self-reliance
   B. class conflict
   C. national pride
   D. economic equality
18. Which of the following titles would be the most appropriate for this excerpt?

A. The New Deal Created Economic and Political Crises
B. The New Deal Returned America to its Free-market Roots
C. The New Deal Eliminated Racial and Gender Discrimination
D. The New Deal Stimulated Change to American Social Attitudes

19. The writer suggests that one result of the New Deal was that

A. governments used fiscal-policy reform to encourage entrepreneurship
B. citizens became increasingly critical of the actions of large corporations
C. governments placed a greater emphasis on promoting economic security
D. citizens became increasingly suspicious of the motivation for government policy changes

20. As a resource for research on the history of liberalism, this excerpt would be considered to be

A. a factual source that provides an overview of the consequences of the New Deal
B. an opinion-based source that uses evidence to celebrate the New Deal’s impact on American society
C. a factual source that offers details regarding the various New Deal programs designed to restore the economy
D. an opinion-based source that uses primary documentation to identify the negative consequences of the New Deal

Use the two sources on page 36 and the source on the top of page 37 to answer questions 21 to 25.

21. Which of the following titles best summarizes the intent of the three sources?

A. Evolution of Liberal Philosophy
B. Liberal Ideas and Values in Decline
C. Challenges to Liberal Values and Beliefs
D. Contradictions Inherent in Liberal Philosophy
22. Information in the sources indicates that despite the changes that occurred over the period described, one constant has been

A. the existence of a class structure
B. domination of society by the aristocracy
C. a decline in the power of the government
D. extensive government intervention in the economy

23. Which phrase from Source II is a reference to people such as Karl Marx and Robert Owen?

A. “nouveau riche”
B. “the aristocracy”
C. “urban labourers”
D. “Sympathetic intellectuals”

24. In the context of the three sources, the primary purpose of Source II is to

A. illustrate the emergence of and responses to classical liberalism
B. criticize the excesses of a free-market economic system
C. promote the values of self-reliance and individualism
D. identify the origins of liberal economic philosophies

How to Get Involved

High-quality diploma examinations are the product of close collaboration between classroom teachers and Alberta Education. Classroom teachers from across Alberta are involved in many aspects of diploma examination development, including the development of items; the building, reviewing, administering, and marking of field tests; the reviewing and validating of diploma examinations; and the marking of diploma examinations.

The development of test items from when they are written until when they appear on an examination takes at least one year. All items on Social Studies 30–1 Diploma Examinations are written by Social Studies 30–1 teachers from across Alberta. After the first year of provincial implementation of the program of studies, items are field tested to ensure their reliability and validity. Diploma examinations are reviewed by editors and translators and validated by working groups that consist of classroom teachers and curriculum staff.

Alberta Education values the involvement of the teachers and annually asks school jurisdictions for the names of teachers who are interested in being involved in any of the development processes for diploma examinations. Teachers who are interested in developing items, constructing field tests, or reviewing and validating examinations are encouraged to talk to their principals about how they can submit their names for approval to be involved in these processes. Although the call for submissions occurs each fall, teachers are welcome to have their names submitted at any time.

Teachers may also be nominated by their school authority to mark written-response assignments for Humanities and Mathematics Diploma Examinations. The call for nominations occurs in early September (for January and April marking) and again in February (for June, August and November marking). Teachers who would like to be nominated to mark diploma exams are encouraged to talk to their principals.

Periodically, we may send out information to those Social Studies 30–1 teachers who are on our contact list. If you are not on that list and would like to receive updates related to Social Studies 30–1 assessment activities, please contact either Dwayne Girard, Social Studies 30–1 Exam Manager, at Dwayne.Girard@gov.ab.ca or Jacquelyn Stuart, Social Studies 30–1 Examiner, at Jacquelyn.Stuart@gov.ab.ca.
