Introduction

The Social Studies 30–2 Diploma Examination is designed to reflect the issues-centred, multiple-perspectives approach and skills-based emphasis of the Social Studies (10-12) Program of Studies. In the Social Studies 30–2 program, the focus is on the key issue of “To what extent should we embrace an ideology?” In addressing this key issue, students will explore four related issues, four general outcomes, and numerous specific outcomes.
Examination Security

All Social Studies 30–2 Diploma Examinations will be held secure until they are released to the public by the Minister. No secure diploma examination is to be previewed until they are released to the public by the Minister. No secure diploma examination is to be previewed, discussed, copied, or removed from the room in which the examination is being written. However, for the January and June examinations, teachers will be allowed access to a teacher perusal copy for review purposes one hour after the examination has started.

For mathematics and science diploma exams: All diploma examination booklets must be kept secure.

For humanities diploma exams: All diploma examination booklets must be kept secure. The only exception is for the humanities Part A: Written Response in the January and June administrations.

Unused copies of all secure examination booklets must be returned to Alberta Education.

For more information about teacher perusal copies and examination security, please refer to the General Information Bulletin.

Time Limits on Diploma Examinations

All students may use extra time to write diploma examinations. This means that all students have up to 5 hours to complete each part of the Social Studies 30–2 Diploma Examination, if they need it. The examination is nevertheless designed so that the majority of students can complete each part of it within 2½ hours. The examination instructions state both the designed time and the total time available.

Extra time is available for diploma examinations in all subjects, but the total time allowed is not the same in all subjects. For more information about accommodations and provisions for students, please refer to the General Information Bulletin.
Maintaining Consistent Standards over Time on Diploma Examinations

A goal of Alberta Education is to make scores achieved on examinations within the same subject directly comparable from session to session, to ensure fairness to students across administrations.

To achieve this goal, the examination has a number of questions in common with a previous examination. Common items are used to find out if the student population writing in one administration differs in achievement from the student population writing in another administration. Common items are also used to find out if the unique items (questions that have never appeared in a previous examination) differ in difficulty from the unique items on the baseline examination that sets the standard to which all students are held.

A statistical process called equating adjusts for differences in difficulty between examinations. Examination marks may be adjusted depending upon the difficulty of the examination written relative to the baseline examination. Therefore, the resulting equated examination scores have the same meaning regardless of when and to whom the examination was administered. Equated diploma examination marks are reported to students. More information about equating is available here.

Because of the security required to ensure fair and appropriate assessment of student achievement over time, Social Studies 30–2 Diploma Examinations will be fully secured and will not be released at the time of writing.
Diploma Examinations: Multiple Forms

As part of Alberta Education’s commitment to fairness to students and flexibility in the writing of diploma examinations, there are two distinct forms (versions) of diploma examinations in some subjects during major administrations (January and June). The two forms are equated to baseline examinations to ensure that the same standard applies to both forms. Both forms adhere to the established blueprint specifications and are reviewed by a technical review committee.

To facilitate the analysis of school-level results, each school receives only one examination form per subject. In subjects offering a translated French-language examination, both forms are administered in English and in French.

Field Testing

Field testing is an essential stage in the development of fair, valid, and reliable provincial examinations. Field testing is a process of collecting data on questions before they become part of a diploma examination. Potential diploma examination questions are administered to students in diploma courses throughout the province to determine their difficulty level and appropriateness. Each field test requires a large student sample to provide the examination developers with reliable information (statistical data and written validation comments from teachers and students).

How do field tests help teachers and students?

Teachers obtain each student’s score promptly, gaining useful information about their students’ performance. Students benefit from writing a test that duplicates some of the experience of writing a diploma examination. Field tests provide students and teachers with examples of the format and content of questions that may appear on diploma examinations. Finally, because of field testing, students, teachers, and parents can be reassured that the questions on diploma examinations have undergone a rigorous process of development, improvement, and validation.

How are field-test data used?

The data received from field tests indicate the validity, reliability, and fairness of each question. Questions that meet specific standards are selected for use on future diploma examinations.

Some questions or sets of questions may not initially perform as well as we require. These questions may be revised and field tested again. Revisions are influenced by the written comments of students and teachers, who provide valuable advice about the appropriateness of the questions, adequacy of writing-time limits, test length, text readability, artwork/graphics clarity and suitability, and question difficulty.

Humanities field tests

While most field tests in humanities subjects are in conventional paper form, some field tests are partially online (“hybrids”). Hybrid field tests combine a paper copy of sources or readings with questions read and answered online using Alberta Education’s Quest A+ system.

Teachers have a 24-hour period to peruse hybrid field tests and are provided with data on how their students performed. These data include the proportion of students who chose each alternative. Test items are blueprinted to program of studies outcomes, which allows teachers to use field-test results to learn more about their students’ strengths and areas for improvement.

Once logged into the hybrid field test on the online delivery system, teachers have the same length of time to peruse the test as their students did to write it. Teachers might choose to log into the field test, submit the confidentiality form, and then log out of the test, so that they can finish perusing the test after receiving their students’ data.
It is important to note that the security of field-test items remains vital to the administration of diploma examinations. Participating teachers must commit to maintaining the security of field-test items. In the case of hybrid field tests, paper copies of sources or readings are mailed to schools. Prior to the test, the paper copies must be kept secure by the school principal, and after the administration of the test, all paper copies must be mailed back to Alberta Education.

More information about field-test administration and security is available here.

How can teachers request field tests?

Teachers requesting field tests must have a Public Authentication System (PAS) account. All requests are made through the Field Test Request System. Further information, including the closing dates to request a field test, may be obtained here, or by contacting Field.Test@gov.ab.ca. Practice tests are available online.

Practice Tests

To give students an opportunity to practise diploma examination-style questions and content, Alberta Education produces practice tests for most subjects that have a diploma examination. Students can access these practice tests using Alberta Education's online test delivery system.

Special-format Practice Tests

To give students an opportunity to practise diploma examination-style questions and content in Braille, audio, large print, or coloured print versions, Alberta Education produces special-format practice tests for all subjects that have a diploma examination. Alberta schools with registered Alberta K–12 students may place orders for these tests. Braille versions are available in English and, by request, in French. All tests are provided free of charge, but limits may be placed on order volumes to ensure access for all students.

For the greatest benefit, special-format practice tests should be written under conditions similar to those of the corresponding diploma examination. The same rules regarding the use of resources and devices should be followed.

Braille versions must be returned to Alberta Education after use.

Release of Examination Materials

Part A: Written Response for the January and June 2021 administrations will be released immediately following the writing of the examination.

Part B: Multiple Choice will be secured for the January and June 2021 administrations.

Examples of sources and multiple-choice questions demonstrate how the Social Studies 30–2 examinations have been designed to support the Program of Studies for Senior High School Social Studies. Two sets of examples can be found in Released Items. The Released Items 2018 consists of all the sources and questions that constituted the June 2014 Form 1 Social Studies 30–2 Part B Grade 12 Diploma Examination. The Released Items 2019 consists of a portion of the sources and questions that constituted the January 2014 Social Studies 30-2 Part B Grade 12 Diploma Examination. Both sets of examples include an answer key, item descriptions, blueprint classifications, and performance data. These sets offer insights regarding the knowledge and understanding as well as skills and processes students are expected to demonstrate when writing the Social Studies 30–2 Part B: Multiple Choice component.

Classroom Assessment

The nature of classroom situations permits teachers to assess students using a broad range of assessment instruments which reflect the Alberta Social Studies Kindergarten to Grade 12 Program of Studies.
Part A: Written Response

Description
Part A: Written Response, worth 50% of the total diploma examination mark, consists of three writing assignments:

• Understanding and Evaluating Key Course Concepts
• Interpreting Sources and Defending a Position
• Exploring an Issue and Defending a Position

Lined pages
Lined pages for handwritten student responses are not included in Part A diploma examination booklets. A template lined page (Written-Response Bilingual Lined Page) can be downloaded for printing from the Alberta Education website here.

Authorized references
Students writing Part A: Written Response are allowed to use the following print references:

• an authorized English and/or bilingual dictionary (students writing in French may use a French-language dictionary)
• a thesaurus
• a writing handbook from the following list:
  – A Canadian Writer’s Reference (D. Hacker), 2nd edition only
  – Checkmate: A Writing Reference for Canadians (J. Buckley)
  – English Language Arts Handbook for Secondary Students (Alberta Education)
  – Fit to Print: The Canadian Student’s Guide to Essay Writing (J. Buckley)
  – The St. Martin’s Handbook for Canadians (A. Lunsford et al.)
  – The Writing Process (Gehle et al.)

The reference texts used must not contain appendices that include social studies content (e.g., historical timelines, the structure of the Government of Canada, Canada’s court system, or the structure of international organizations such as the United Nations and NATO).
The following dictionaries are authorized for students to use while writing Part A: Written Response:

- Collins Paperback English Dictionary
- Collins-Robert Paperback French Dictionary
- Gage Canadian Dictionary
- Harper-Collins French Dictionary (French-English)
- Le Petit Robert 1
- Merriam-Webster’s School Dictionary
- The Canadian Oxford High School Dictionary
- The Concise Oxford Dictionary
- The Houghton Mifflin Canadian Dictionary of the English Language
- The Oxford Dictionary of Current English

Students and supervising examiners must ensure that extraneous material is not taken into the examination room.

Suggested word count ranges

All Part A Humanities written-response assignments contain a suggested word count range. Students can use the suggested word count range, along with the suggested time limit, as a guideline when responding to the assignment. The range is not a cap, and students who handwrite will not be expected to hand-count their words.

The suggested word count ranges below are based on various sources, including the student exemplars chosen for the Examples of the Standards for Students’ Writing, and on discussions with psychometricians and curriculum staff. They also reflect discussions with teachers during exam development regarding the expectations for each written-response assignment.

Suggested Word Count Ranges for Written-response Assignments

- Social Studies 30–2 Assignment I: 250–550 words
- Social Studies 30–2 Assignment II: 375–900 words
- Social Studies 30–2 Assignment III: 350–800 words

Note: There are approximately 300 words per page, depending on the font size used and other factors. The expectations for student responses, including written responses, are unchanged.
Description of Assignment I: Understanding and Evaluating Key Course Concepts

Assignment I: Understanding and Evaluating Key Course Concepts requires students to demonstrate understanding and to apply the skill of evaluation to social studies knowledge and understanding.

For this assignment students must

• identify a characteristic or characteristics among those provided that are the most important to one of the key concepts of the program of studies;

• explain why the characteristic or characteristics chosen are the most important;

• support their response using their understanding of social studies.

Educators can assist students by providing them with synonyms for links, such as relates, connects, and pertains.

Students are expected to develop a response in paragraph form that reflects the quality of thought and communication expected of students completing Social Studies 30–2.

Value: 10% of the total examination mark (Parts A and B combined)

Scoring: Scores contribute to the total examination mark in the following proportions:

Explanations and Support 8%
Communication 2%

Insufficient

Insufficient is a special category. It is not an indicator of quality. It is assigned to responses that are off topic, do not contain a discernible attempt to address the task, or that are too brief to assess in one or more scoring categories.

No Response

Students who do not provide a response will receive a no response score.
Description of Assignment II: Interpreting Sources and Defending a Position

Assignment II: Interpreting Sources and Defending a Position requires students to demonstrate the skills and processes of interpreting, evaluating, and synthesizing through the application of social studies knowledge and understanding. Students are required to interpret three sources to identify what each source communicates about either the role of government or the role of individuals. Considering the three sources, students must then explain and defend a position on what the role of either government or individuals should be.

For this assignment students must

• interpret each source to identify the ideas presented in each source about the role of either government or individuals in society;

• explain and defend a position on what the role of either government or individuals in society should be;

• support their response by referring to the sources and their understanding of social studies.

Students are expected to develop responses in paragraph form that reflect the quality of thought and communication expected of students completing Social Studies 30–2.

Value: 20% of the total examination mark (Parts A and B combined)

Scoring: Scores contribute to the total examination mark in the following proportions:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Zero

Responses that provide little or no attempt to address the Interpretation of Sources category or Defence of Position category may receive a score of zero in that category. Scores of zero in both the Interpretation of Sources category and Defence of Position category will automatically result in a score of zero in the Communication category.

No Response

Students who do not provide a response will receive a no response score.
Description of Assignment III: Exploring an Issue and Defending a Position

Assignment III: Exploring an Issue and Defending a Position requires students to demonstrate the skills and processes of analyzing, evaluating, and synthesizing through the application of social studies knowledge and understanding. Students must respond to an issues-focused question. Several brief responses from fictitious citizens will be provided to serve as a prompt for students.

For this assignment students must

• explore an issue that is posed to them;
• analyze various points of view on the issue;
• explain and defend their position on the issue;
• support their response using their understanding of social studies.

Students are expected to develop a response in paragraph form that reflects the quality of thought and communication expected of students completing Social Studies 30–2.

Value: 20% of the total examination mark (Parts A and B combined)

Scoring: Scores contribute to the total examination mark in the following proportions:

Insufficient

Insufficient is a special category. It is not an indicator of quality. It is assigned to responses that do not contain a discernible attempt to address the assignment or responses that are too brief to assess in one or more scoring categories.

No Response

Students who do not provide a response will receive a no response score.
Social Studies 30–2 Part A: Written Response Blueprint

The Social Studies 30–2 Diploma Examinations are designed to reflect the Alberta Social Studies Kindergarten to Grade 12 Programs of Study. Note: This instructions page is not as it appeared in January 2014. It has been modified to reflect current time limits.

January 2014
Social Studies 30–2
Part A: Written Response
Grade 12 Diploma Examination

Description

Time: 2½ hours. This examination was developed to be completed in 2½ hours; however, you may take up to 5 hours to complete the examination, should you need it.

Plan your time carefully.

Part A: Written Response consists of three assignments worth 50% of the total Social Studies 30–2 diploma examination mark.

Evaluation: Your written-response evaluation will be based on the following weightings:

• Assignment I
  Value: 10% of total examination mark
  Suggested time: 20–25 minutes

• Assignment II
  Value: 20% of total examination mark
  Suggested time: 40–45 minutes

• Assignment III
  Value: 20% of total examination mark
  Suggested time: 40–45 minutes

Instructions

• Complete all three assignments.

• You may use the following print references:
  – an English and/or bilingual dictionary
  – a thesaurus
  – an authorized writing handbook

• Space is provided in this booklet for planning.

• It is your responsibility to print out (or handwrite) and staple all of your final written work to the designated pages in this booklet. You must also verify that this has been done correctly. Page 5 illustrates how to attach your final work to the booklet.

Additional Instructions for Students
Using Word Processors

• Format your work using an easy-to-read 12-point font, double space, and use headers and footers as illustrated on page 5.

Additional Instructions for Students
Who are Handwriting

• Use the paper provided by your school for handwritten work. Note that there is no paper provided in this booklet for final written work.

• Use blue or black ink for handwritten work.

Do not write your name anywhere in this booklet or on your response. Feel free to make handwritten revisions directly on your final response.
Sample Assignment I task

ASSIGNMENT I

Value: 10% of the total examination mark
Suggested time: 20–25 minutes
Suggested word count range: 250 to 550 words

What is/are the most effective action(s) an individual could take to influence political decisions in a democracy?

Write a response in which you must
• identify the most effective action(s) an individual could take to influence political decisions in a democracy
• explain why this action or these actions should be taken
• support your response using your understanding of social studies

Reminders for Writing

• Organize your response
• Proofread your response
Scoring categories and scoring criteria for 2020–2021 Assignment I

EXPLANATIONS AND SUPPORT (8 marks)

When marking Explanations and Support, the marker will consider the:

- quality of explanations
- selection and quality of support
- understanding of the assigned task

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Excellent</th>
<th>Explanations are deliberate and comprehensive, revealing a perceptive understanding. Support is specific and accurate, and errors, if present, do not detract from the response. A thorough understanding of the assigned task is demonstrated.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Proficient</td>
<td>Explanations are appropriate and purposeful, revealing a clear understanding. Support is relevant and appropriate, but may contain some minor errors. A clear understanding of the assigned task is demonstrated.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Satisfactory</td>
<td>Explanations are general and straightforward, revealing an acceptable understanding. Support is relevant but general, may be incompletely developed, and/or contains errors. An acceptable understanding of the assigned task is demonstrated.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Limited</td>
<td>Explanations are overgeneralized and/or redundant, revealing a confused, though discernible, understanding. Support is superficial, may not be always relevant, and may contain significant errors. An incomplete understanding of the assigned task is demonstrated.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poor</td>
<td>Explanations are tangential or minimal, revealing a negligible understanding. Support, if present, is incomplete, may be marginally relevant, and contains significant and/or frequent errors. A minimal understanding of the assigned task is demonstrated.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Insufficient</td>
<td>Insufficient is a special category. It is not an indicator of quality. It is assigned to responses that are off topic, do not contain a discernible attempt to address the task, or are too brief to assess in any scoring category.</td>

COMMUNICATION (2 marks)

When marking Communication, the markers will consider the:

- organization and coherence
- vocabulary (e.g., specificity, accuracy)
- sentence construction (e.g., clarity, completeness)
- grammar and mechanics (e.g., consistency of tense, punctuation, spelling, capitalization)

Proportion of error to the length and complexity of the response must be considered when awarding a mark for Communication.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Excellent</th>
<th>The writing is fluent and purposefully organized. Vocabulary is precise. The writing demonstrates confident control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics. Errors, if present, are inconsequential.</th>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Proficient</td>
<td>The writing is logical and clearly organized. Vocabulary is specific. The writing frequently demonstrates effective control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics. Errors do not detract from communication.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Satisfactory</td>
<td>The writing is generally clear and functionally organized. Vocabulary is adequate. The writing demonstrates basic control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics. Errors do not seriously interfere with communication.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Limited</td>
<td>The writing is uneven and incomplete, but is discernibly organized. Vocabulary is imprecise and/or inappropriate. The writing demonstrates a faltering control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics. Errors hinder communication.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poor</td>
<td>The writing is unclear and disorganized. Vocabulary is ineffective and frequently incorrect. A lack of control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics is demonstrated. Errors impede communication.</td>

COMMUNICATION (4 marks)

When marking Communication, the marker will consider the:

- organization and coherence
- contribution of stylistic choices to the creation of voice (e.g., sentence variety, word choice)
- vocabulary (e.g., specificity, accuracy)
- sentence construction (e.g., clarity, completeness)
- grammar and mechanics (e.g., consistency of tense, punctuation, spelling, capitalization)

Proportion of error to the length and complexity of the response must be considered when awarding a mark for Communication.

| Excellent | The writing is fluent and purposefully organized. Effective stylistic choices may contribute to the creation of an engaging voice. Vocabulary is precise. The writing demonstrates confident control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics. Errors, if present, are inconsequential. |
| Proficient | The writing is logical and clearly organized. Appropriate stylistic choices may contribute to the creation of a distinct voice. Vocabulary is specific. The writing frequently demonstrates effective control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics. Errors do not detract from communication. |
| Satisfactory | The writing is generally clear and functionally organized. Basic stylistic choices may contribute to the creation of a voice that is adequate. Vocabulary is adequate. The writing demonstrates basic control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics. Errors do not seriously interfere with communication. |
| Limited | The writing is uneven and incomplete but is discernibly organized. Awkward stylistic choices may contribute to the creation of an unconvincing and/or inappropriate voice. Vocabulary is imprecise and/or inappropriate. The writing demonstrates a faltering control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics. Errors hinder communication. |
| Poor | The writing is unclear and disorganized. Ineffective and/or inappropriate stylistic choices may contribute to the creation of an ineffective and/or unsuitable voice. Vocabulary is ineffective and frequently incorrect. A lack of control of sentence construction, grammar, and mechanics is demonstrated. Errors impede communication. |
| Zero | Zero is assigned to a response that fails to meet the minimum requirements of the Poor category. |
Sample Assignment III task

ASSIGNMENT III

Value: 20% of the total examination mark
Suggested time: 40–45 minutes
Suggested word count range: 350 to 800 words

An online forum posed the following question:

Should citizens be required to pass a voter-competency test before casting their ballots?

Requiring citizens to pass a voter-competency test prior to every election would be an excellent way to ensure that those electing the government are informed about important political issues and the platforms of the candidates’ political parties. Only those who passed would be given a ballot. The existence of a test would encourage citizens to become informed about the political affairs of the country and ultimately would strengthen Canadian democracy.

Demanding that voters pass a voter-competency test is an insult to Canadians. If this idea is legislated, it will strip the right to vote away from thousands of citizens who are simply trying to exercise their democratic freedoms. Many hard-working people do not have the time or the money to become knowledgeable about every political issue that may appear on a test. It is a discriminatory idea meant to restrict voting to an elite group in society.

Administrating a voter-competency test is a step in the right direction; however, it raises some important issues. Citizens should be required to obtain a licence to vote just like they need a licence to drive a car. All citizens would have to pass a basic test about how our political and economic systems function and then simply renew their licence for a small fee every five years. The test would ensure voters have the knowledge to vote. Licence renewal would indicate ongoing interest in the affairs of the country.
ASSIGNMENT III

Should citizens be required to pass a voter-competency test before casting their ballots?

Write a response in which you must
• explore the issue of requiring citizens to pass a voter-competency test
• analyze various points of view on the issue
• explain and defend your position on the issue
• support your point of view using your understanding of social studies

Reminders for Writing

• Organize your response
• Proofread your response

Examples of the Standards for Students’ Writing

Examples of the Standards for Students’ Writing is posted on the Alberta Education website. In this document you will find examples of Social Studies 30–2 diploma examination written responses, taken from several Social Studies 30–2 Diploma Examinations, that received scores of Satisfactory (S), Proficient (Pf), and Excellent (E) in each of the three writing assignments. Accompanying each response are brief rationales that will help to show how the scoring criteria were used to apply the provincial standards to each example.
Part B: Multiple Choice

Description

Part B: Multiple Choice is worth 50% of the total diploma examination mark and consists of 60 machine-scored questions. Each question is classified according to the knowledge and understanding outcomes of each related issue as well as to the skills and processes outcomes related to either understanding and analysis or evaluation and synthesis. The examination blueprint that follows illustrates the distribution of questions within these classifications.

Questions are based on the key issues and related issues, as well as specific outcomes from the Social Studies (10-12) Programs of Study.

The multiple-choice questions require students to apply knowledge, understanding, and comprehension of social studies content, and to apply skills and processes to that knowledge base.

Rationale for provision of multiple-choice questions

The primary purpose of providing multiple-choice questions in this information bulletin is to offer insights regarding the knowledge, understanding, skills, and processes students are expected to demonstrate when writing the Social Studies 30–2 Diploma Examination Part B: Multiple Choice component.

Even in their entirety, these multiple-choice questions are not intended to be considered as equivalent to an examination form. These questions have not been field-tested in Social Studies 30–2 classrooms and therefore no statistical data are available regarding the level of difficulty of each question. Further, the selection of questions for this document has not been guided by an effort to match the proportioning of questions as described in the examination blueprint on page 34 of this bulletin.

These questions have been subject to thorough review by both Alberta Education staff and classroom teachers to ensure that each question has curricular and instructional validity and is written as clearly and concisely as possible. Teachers are encouraged to consider these factors when deciding how to best use these questions to prepare students for the Part B: Multiple Choice component.

Included among the samples provided are eight questions (9, 15, 29, 46, 51, 56, 69, and 77) selected to illustrate the examination blueprint classifications as set out on page 34. Each of these questions is followed by a summary table that identifies

- the related issue from the Program of Studies to which the question is most closely related; and
- the cognitive (skill) level measured by the question.

Questions 1 to 4 are based on the following diagram.

!A Spectrum of Economic Ideology

Proposed Reforms

Proposal W
Nationalize fossil fuel production in order to regulate prices and reduce consumption.

Proposal X
Reduce corporate and personal taxation rates in order to stimulate economic expansion.

Proposal Y
Require persons receiving unemployment benefits to enroll in job skills enhancement programs to make themselves more employable.

Proposal Z
Lower the age at which citizens become eligible to receive government pension benefits in order to encourage early retirements.
Questions 6 to 9 are based on the following points of view.

Point of View I

We do not allow just anyone to fly a passenger jet, perform surgery, or design a bridge because we know those tasks should be done by those qualified to do them. So why do we handle political decision making differently? Why do we allow the masses to be the ultimate political authority in a country? They are easily swayed by empty promises and slick campaigns. A far better process for leadership selection is a natural process in which the most able individual demonstrates ability, takes charge, and “pilots” the country just as we expect the most able persons to pilot our airplanes.

Point of View II

History has shown that when political power is in the hands of the elite citizens, they will base their decisions on protecting their power and ensuring that their needs are met. If we hire people to fix our car or repair an appliance, they are accountable for doing a good job. If they don’t, they will soon be out of work. The same rules should apply to our political leaders. They have to be held accountable to the people; otherwise the people could suffer years of incompetent leadership. After all, it is the people who “hire” political leaders to make decisions for them.
Questions 10 to 12 are based on the following excerpt.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, —That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness.

—The United States Declaration of Independence—1776
Questions 13 to 16 are based on the following sources.

Source I

A taxation system based on the theory of taking from the rich to give to the poor results in frustration and stagnation. It penalizes the enterprising, the efficient, the vigorous and the thrifty without, in the long term, benefiting those who lack these qualities. High rates of taxation, which go beyond the need for government’s general support and the maintenance of public services, reduce labour’s incentive to work, management’s incentive for efficient operation and the willingness of investors to undertake new risks. The consequences are a diminution* in the number of new enterprises and lowered productivity in the enterprises already existing. This in turn means fewer jobs and a lowered standard of living for all citizens.

If consumers do not demand a product, it will not be sold unless its price is very low to attract buyers. This reality forces producers to make products that consumers want or they will receive little or no profit. When producers correctly respond to consumer demand, they can employ more workers and increase their profits. The desire for profits benefits everybody—workers, producers, and consumers.

Questions 30 and 31 are based on the following source.

The work of early 20th-century feminists eventually changed Canada in a number of ways.

Change I—Governments introduced pay equity (equal pay for work of equal value) programs in response to public protests against the trend which paid women approximately 60% of what a man would receive in the same position.

Change II—Discrimination on the basis of sex was prohibited in both federal and provincial human rights legislation.

Change III—Modern contraceptives were legalized in 1969, which ushered in a new wave of women’s rights advocates.

Change IV—Laws were amended to recognize women’s equality with men in marriage. Recently there has also been an increased emphasis on gender-neutral language; for example, “letter carriers” replaced “postman.”

Question 38 is based on the following information.

May 22 to 29, 1972—American President Richard Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev held an unprecedented summit in Moscow to deal with a wide range of international issues. A number of important agreements were reached. Most notably, both leaders signed a treaty to restrain the nuclear arms race, known as the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT). Other agreements reached during the historic week-long meetings included an accord for developing economic ties between the two superpowers and a commitment to make the world’s first joint venture into space in June 1975.

Excerpt II

With the coming of the Europeans, our experience as a people changed. We experienced relationships in which we were made to feel inferior. We were treated as incompetent to make decisions for ourselves. Europeans would treat us in such a way as to make us feel that they knew, better than we ourselves, what was good for us.

Questions 45 to 49 are based on the following sources.

Source I

In the fall of 1970 a radical separatist group in Québec, the Front de libération du Québec (FLQ), kidnapped two prominent individuals: a British diplomat and a member of the Québec government. The FLQ referred to the captives as political prisoners and set a series of conditions for their release. Tensions rose in Québec and at one mass rally the crowd began chanting “FLQ” in support of the radicals. The federal government chose to respond to the crisis by invoking the War Measures Act. The Act gave the police across Canada extraordinary powers, including the right to search homes and seize property without needing a search warrant. Furthermore, the police held the power to detain individuals for up to 90 days without the need to indicate the charges for which the person was being held. To assist the police in their actions, units of the Canadian army were put on the streets in Montréal and Ottawa.

If a democratic society is to continue to exist, it must be able to root out the cancer of an armed, revolutionary movement that is bent on destroying the very basis of our freedom. For that reason the Government, following an analysis of the facts, including requests of the Government of Quebec and the City of Montreal for urgent action, decided to proclaim the War Measures Act. It did so at 4:00 a.m.* this morning, in order to permit the full weight of Government to be brought quickly to bear on all those persons advocating or practising violence as a means of achieving political ends.

…Aboriginal communities were commonly characterized by a flat political structure that maximized the involvement of individuals…everyone, including men, women, and children, had an opportunity to express an opinion on an issue. These expressions of opinion could occur during family or clan meetings, at spiritual or cultural events, or even at full tribal councils…. The result was often a decision that attempted to balance the various interests expressed.

Question 64 is based on the following cartoon.
Questions 65 to 69 are based on the following sources.

In the 1930s, India was a colony of Great Britain. The political and economic systems of India were controlled by the British government, its representatives in India, and British merchants. Mohandas Gandhi was an Indian citizen who wished to see India become an independent state, free of British control.

Source I

Mohandas Gandhi, an Indian independence leader, began a march to the Arabian Sea on Mar. 12, 1930, to protest the British tax on salt. It was a strong act of defiance that made media headlines around the world as they reported on Gandhi’s non-violent movement of civil disobedience.

The British government that ruled India had been heavily taxing salt since the nineteenth century. Salt was vital to the survival of the Indians at that time; used for such essentials as preserving meat as well as ensuring adequate intake of iodine. The British Salt Acts made it illegal for Indians to produce their own salt (through the boiling down of readily available salt water) or to purchase salt from producers other than the British government. It was the poorest people of India that suffered the most under Britain’s monopoly of the salt industry. By refusing to submit to the Salt Acts, Gandhi was expanding his movement to include all of the Indian population in a unifying campaign of satyagraha, which is mass civil disobedience.

Source II

By choosing the salt law to defy the British Laws, Gandhi exhibited his political genius and shrewdness. This tax on a natural product from the sea water and consumed by every person and animal was symbolical of human oppression and thus Gandhi was able to convey his message to the masses with ease. By calling on the people to pick up salt from the earth or distil it from the sea as their natural right, Gandhi was able to rally the people of India behind him. Salt became the symbol of revolt and resurgence of the Indian people….

Salt became the symbol of India’s will to be free. The same day that Gandhi broke the salt laws, throughout India at least five million people at over 5,000 meetings, followed Gandhi’s example.

Gandhi in his quest for Indian independence was to face many deprivations and hardship. He was jailed, beaten, and humiliated but nothing could deter the man. Gandhi’s spirit was unbreakable.

How to Get Involved

High-quality diploma examinations are the product of close collaboration between classroom teachers and Alberta Education. Classroom teachers from across Alberta are involved in many aspects of diploma examination development, including the development of items; the building, reviewing, administering, and marking of field tests; the reviewing and validating of diploma examinations; and the marking of diploma examinations.

The development of test items from when they are written until when they appear on an examination takes at least one year. All items on Social Studies 30–2 Diploma Examinations are written by Social Studies 30–2 teachers from across Alberta. After the first year of provincial implementation of the program of studies, items are field tested to ensure their reliability and validity. Diploma examinations are reviewed by editors and validated by working groups that consist of classroom teachers and curriculum staff.

Alberta Education values the involvement of the teachers and annually asks school jurisdictions for the names of teachers who are interested in being involved in any of the development processes for diploma examinations. Teachers who are interested in developing items, constructing field tests, or reviewing and validating examinations are encouraged to talk to their principals about how they can submit their names for approval to be involved in these processes. Although the call for submissions occurs each fall, teachers are welcome to have their names submitted at any time.

Teachers may also be nominated by their school authority to mark written-response assignments for Humanities and Mathematics Diploma Examinations. The call for nominations occurs in early September (for January and April marking) and again in February (for June, August and November marking). Teachers who would like to be nominated to mark diploma exams are encouraged to talk to their principals.

Periodically, we send out information to those Social Studies 30–2 teachers who are on our contact list. If you are not on that list and would like to receive updates related to Social Studies 30–2 assessment activities, please contact Karla Moldenhauer, Social Studies 30–2 Examiner, at Karla.Moldenhauer@gov.ab.ca.
