Grade 9 Social Studies Provincial Achievement Test

General description

The Grade 9 Social Studies Provincial Achievement Test consists of 50 multiple-choice questions based on outcomes in the Grade 9 Social Studies Program of Studies. The test has two booklets: a Sources Booklet containing source materials and a Questions Booklet containing corresponding questions. Students record their answers to all multiple-choice questions on a tear-out, machine-scorable answer sheet.

The multiple-choice questions are based on the two general outcomes in the Grade 9 Social Studies Program of Studies: 9.1 Issues for Canadians: Governance and Rights and 9.2 Issues for Canadians: Economic Systems in Canada and the United States.

The test is divided into sections based on specific outcomes in the program of studies. Each specific outcome has either one or two sets of issue-centred sources in the Sources Booklet on which three to four multiple-choice questions are based.

Knowledge and Understanding and Skills and Processes outcomes are integrated throughout the test.

Values and Attitudes outcomes are best assessed in the context of the classroom.

Students may not use a dictionary, a thesaurus, or other reference materials when writing the test.

If a word that warrants definition is used on the test, it will be defined on the page in the Sources Booklet on which it appears.

The test is developed to be completed in 80 minutes; however, students have up to 160 minutes to complete the test should they need it.
Grade 9 Social Studies provincial assessment standards

The following statements describe what is expected of Grade 9 students at the acceptable standard and the standard of excellence, based on outcomes in the Social Studies K–9 Program of Studies. These statements represent examples of the standards against which student achievement is measured. It is important to remember that one test cannot measure all of the outcomes in the program of studies.

Prefering Students for the Grade 9 Social Studies Provincial Achievement Test

Suggestions for preparing students

The best way to prepare students for writing the provincial achievement test is to teach the Grade 9 Social Studies Program of Studies well and to ensure that students know what is expected. Many of the skills and attitudes that support test writing are, in fact, effective skills and strategies for approaching all kinds of learning tasks.

Teachers are encouraged to familiarize their students with the types of sources and questions that will appear on the test by working through questions from previously released provincial achievement tests.

All Sources and Questions test booklets are secured and must be returned to Alberta Education.

Released items from previously secured Grade 9 Social Studies Provincial Achievement Tests are available on the Alberta Education website.

Special-format practice tests

To give students an opportunity to practise provincial achievement test-style questions and content in Braille, audio, large print, or coloured print versions, Alberta Education produces special-format practice tests for all subjects that have a provincial achievement test. Alberta schools with registered Alberta K–12 students may place orders for these tests. Braille versions are available in English and, by request, in French. All tests are provided free of charge, but limits may be placed on order volumes to ensure access for all students.

For the greatest benefit, special-format practice tests should be written under conditions similar to those of the corresponding provincial achievement test. The same rules regarding the use of resources and devices should be followed.

Braille versions must be returned to Alberta Education after use.

For more information or to place an order, contact

Laura LaFramboise Distribution Coordinator, Examination Administration
780-641-9116 or Laura.LaFramboise@gov.ab.ca.
Suggestions for answering questions

- You may not use a dictionary, a thesaurus, or other reference materials when writing the test.
- Read each source set and think about each question.
- Work through the test using the strategies that work best for you. You should either:
  - read the sources and think carefully about them before you try any of the multiple-choice questions associated with the sources
  OR
  - read the questions first and then read the sources, keeping in mind the questions you will need to answer.

Each set of multiple-choice questions is ordered according to the sequence in which the sources are presented. For example, the answer to the first question will likely deal with the first source, and so on. Questions related to the set of sources as a whole will appear at the end of the set of questions.

- Feel free to write or highlight in either of the test booklets. Identifying key words of the questions or features of the sources in this way may help you to determine an answer.
- Consider all forms of information provided. Information will be presented in a variety of ways, such as news articles, charts, pictures, graphs, maps, and cartoons.
- Take the time to review the source(s) that is/are referred to in a question. Sources contain key details that will help you determine the correct answers to questions. It is always worthwhile to re-read the source(s) referenced and to consider the meaning of the source(s) independently and in the context of the source set as a whole.
- When answering “best answer” questions, be sure to carefully read all four alternatives (A, B, C, and D) before choosing the answer that you think is best. These questions will always include a bolded qualifier such as best, most strongly, most directly, or most clearly in their stems. More than one of the alternatives (A, B, C, and/or D) may be, to some degree, correct, but one of the alternatives will be “best” in that it takes more of the information into account or can be supported most strongly with reference to the information.
- Work from partial knowledge when it is appropriate to do so. Read all the choices and see which one best fits the answer. If a correct or best answer does not become obvious fairly quickly, you may want to eliminate the answers that seem least appropriate and then use your judgment to select an answer from those that remain.
- Check to make sure that you have answered every multiple-choice question.
Opportunities to Participate in Test-development Activities

Field testing

All provincial achievement test questions are field tested before use. By “testing” the test questions, students who write field tests have an opportunity for a practice run at answering questions that could be used on future provincial achievement tests. As well, the teachers have an opportunity to comment on the appropriateness and quality of the test questions.

Through the online field-test request system, teachers can create and modify field-test requests and check the status of these requests. Information regarding the field-test process and the request system is available at Provincial Achievement Tests.

Once the completed requests are received by Provincial Assessment, classes will be selected to ensure that a representative and sufficiently large sample of students from across the province take part in the field test. Every effort will be made to place field tests as requested; however, because field tests are administered to a prescribed number of students, it may not be possible to fill all requests.

Working groups

Teacher involvement in the development of provincial achievement tests is important because it helps to ensure the validity and appropriateness of the assessments.

Teacher working groups are used throughout the test-development process to create raw forms of test questions and to review and revise draft forms of provincial achievement tests. These working groups usually meet for one or two days, two or three times per year. Occasionally, these meetings are held on weekends.

To be eligible to serve on a test-development working group, a teacher must currently be teaching the course in question or must have taught the course within the past three years.

Teachers participating in working groups are selected from the working-group nominees approved by superintendents of school jurisdictions. The call for nominations usually occurs in September. However, we will accept further nominations throughout the year. In some subjects, more teachers may be nominated for working groups than are needed. When teachers are selected, there must be a balance of first-time and experienced working-group members and regional representation by zone, school authority, and school. Unfortunately, not everyone whose name is submitted will be selected.

Examples of descriptions used in audio versions of the Grade 9 Social Studies Provincial Achievement Test

The purpose of this appendix is to provide school staff with examples of the descriptions of diagrams, illustrations, and other visuals used in provincial achievement test audio versions, which are available to students as an accommodation. These examples are neither exhaustive nor prescriptive. Test content is shown in black text and descriptions in blue text.

For students who are enrolled with a school, and who typically use audio for their coursework, no application is required to receive this accommodation when writing provincial achievement tests. Such students may have visual impairments, physical disabilities, or learning disabilities. The audio version is used by students in conjunction with a print, digital, or Braille version of the test.

In Grade 9 Social Studies, scripting notes are written to describe sources that contain more than just text. Visual sources are described to maintain fairness for all students. However, some visual sources are not scripted, as students may be required to visually analyze a source to determine trends or extrapolate a conclusion. As well, visual sources that contain minute details, such as a world map, may not be scripted as the amount of information given may be too overwhelming or may give students with access to audio an advantage over students who do not. In these situations, the scripting notes would instruct students to examine the printed or digital version of the test booklet.

Special-format practice tests are available from Alberta Education for those students who wish to familiarize themselves with standard audio versions of Alberta Education tests.
The following assignment is a reproduction of how the actual pages from a provincial achievement test were read. The blue text is read, in addition to the black text on the page, as supplemental information for students.
