HOW TO MAKE A COMPLAINT AGAINST COMMERCIAL VEHICLE ENFORCEMENT OR ITS EMPLOYEES
HOW TO MAKE A COMPLAINT AGAINST COMMERCIAL VEHICLE ENFORCEMENT OR ITS EMPLOYEES

Anyone who wishes to make a complaint against Commercial Vehicle Enforcement or its employees, may write directly to the Chief:

Jacquie Daumont, Acting Chief
Room 401, Provincial Building
4920 - 51 Street
Red Deer, AB T4N 6K8
(403) 340-5225
jacquie.daumont@gov.ab.ca

Details of complaint:

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

Section 140 of the Criminal Code
It is an offence of public mischief to cause a peace officer to begin or to continue an investigation with the intention of misleading them.