

Canada-Alberta Job Grant

Application for Unemployed Trainees Checklist

Important information

- Canada-Alberta Job Grant (CAJG) will not fund training courses that start before receiving your application.
- CAJG recommends applying 30 days before the start date of the training course.
- All courses on an application must start within 6 months.
- List each training course separately using the “add training” button.
- Employers may pay for training at any time; however, the training cannot start until all trainee(s) actioned the email by clicking “I confirm” and the application status is “received”.
- Applicants are responsible for training costs incurred if an application is declined.
- If circumstances change after your application is submitted, notify the CAJG team as soon as possible. A new application may be required, which will affect your training invoice and start date.

Checklist

Trainee information

The employer will be entering trainee information on their behalf during the application process. The information the employer enters regarding the trainee must be reviewed by the trainee. When the CAJG online application form is submitted, an email will be sent to the trainee. The email will advise the trainee that the employer applied to the CAJG program and that the employer provided personal information about them to the program. The trainee is required to acknowledge receipt of the email and confirm certain information before the application form can be formally submitted and processed. Trainees will be directed to contact the employer to make any updates or corrections to their personal information.

The CAJG application form will not be formally submitted or considered received until all trainees provide email confirmation.
