Instructions

Provisional Order to Change Child and/or Spousal Support

Before you Begin:

- This form is to be used to change an Order made on a divorce file when the other party lives in another province or territory in Canada. It does not matter if the divorce file is in Alberta or elsewhere in Canada.
- If the Order that you want to change was not made on a divorce file, or if the Order was made outside Canada, then this is not the proper procedure for you.
- See our booklet, "Making a Court Application in the Court of Queen's Bench (With an Application Form)" for more information about how to prepare, file and serve court forms and how to present your case in court.
- Be prepared to take several days or weeks to gather up the information that you need, and several hours to fill in your paperwork properly. This is not something you can dash off in a few minutes. If you have properly prepared, you will have a better chance of success. You only have one chance to make your application!

Gather up the documents you will need to prove your case

- You will need a copy of the order that you want to change. If the order was made outside Alberta, you will need a certified copy of the order. You can get that from the court that granted it. (There may be a fee for a certified copy.)
- Gather up your financial documents and fill in your Disclosure Statement before you start filling in these forms. See the package "Providing Financial Disclosure" for more information. You must file complete financial disclosure at the same time as you file your application.
- There may be other documents that you should attach to your court forms. For example:
- To support your request to change child support:
 - If you are asking for any special or extraordinary expenses for your children, you will need receipts for those expenses, if you have them.
 - If you are claiming support for a child over the age of 18, you will need proof of that child's income for any year in which they have earned an income.
 - If you are claiming support for a child over the age of 18 because they are in school, you will need proof that they are registered in an educational institution, including the number of classes and/or hours per week of instruction.
 - If you are asking for retroactive support, you must provide income information back to the date that you want the new support amount to begin.

- If you are claiming undue hardship, you will need proof of the amounts you are spending on the thing that causes you undue hardship and income information for any other adult in your household.
- If you are asking to reduce arrears, you must provide:
 - Income information back to the date when you first began to fall into arrears.
 - A copy of your Debtor's Statement of Account from the Maintenance Enforcement Program; and
 - A list of your assets, showing the value of each asset, and a list of your debts, showing the amount owing on each debt.
- If you are asking to change spousal support:
 - You must fill in a list of your assets, showing the value of each asset and your debts, showing the amount owing on each debt.
 - You must also fill in a budget, showing the amount you spend each month on your expenses.
 - If you are unable to support yourself because of medical problems or education, you will need proof of the medical problems or registration at an educational institution.

Tips:

The documents that you attach to your application are very important. You will not be in court when the final decision is made, so make sure your paperwork tells the judge everything they need to know to make a decision. Organize it well, make sure it is all legible, and add in written explanations if the documents are not clear.

You can print off a copy of your Debtor's Statement of Account from the Maintenance Enforcement website, if you have your account number and your pin. Or you can phone them at 480-422-5555 and ask them to mail it to you.

Fill in the Application form

- Follow the instructions on the form and in the "Making a Court Application" booklet.

Fill in the Affidavit form

- Follow the instructions on the form and in the “Making a Court Application” booklet.
- This form has been prepared with the information that the court is likely to want to see. You can, if you wish, change the content of the form to set out the information in a way that you think is best. If you type up your own Affidavit, it cannot be longer than 5 pages (or 8 pages if you are setting your matter for an afternoon Special).
- All of the documents that you want the judge to see must be written about in the Affidavit (and your Disclosure Statement, if you have filled one in) and attached as exhibits to the Affidavit (or attachments to your Disclosure Statement).
- You cannot have more than 40 pages of exhibits to your Affidavit, unless you get permission from a judge. If you must have more than 40 pages, ask us how to apply for permission.

Serving the Court Materials

- In most cases, you can go to court without serving the other party. (They will be served once your application is sent to the province in which they live.)
- You do have to serve Maintenance Enforcement (MEP) – either by dropping off copies of each court form at their office, or by sending them to MEP by recorded mail. The address is on the Affidavit of Service form.
- If the judge in court tells you that you need to serve the other party, ask us for an Affidavit of Service to be filled in after they are served.

After Maintenance Enforcement has been served, fill in the Affidavit of Service form

- Follow the instructions on the form and in the “Making a Court Application” booklet.

What Happens After Court?

- The order that you received is a Provisional Order – that is, it is of no force or effect at this time.
- You must fill in the Provisional Order Information Form and file it at the Clerk’s counter.
- Once the order and Provisional Order Information Form are filed, the Clerk orders a transcript of your court hearing, then prepares a package of information to be sent on to the other province. This package includes the court forms that you have filled out, the transcript and the Provisional Order.

- The other province will set up a court date and serve the other party with a copy of the package from Alberta. The other party has a chance to file their own evidence with the court and to make arguments.
- The judge in the other province will make an order which will do one of the following:
 - Confirm the Provisional Order
 - Confirm, but vary the Provisional Order
 - Refuse to Confirm the Provisional Order
 - Send the matter back to Alberta so that you can provide further evidence.
- This whole process usually takes about 6 months, but it can take longer. You will receive a copy of the Order from the other province once it is received by our court.

Tip:

If you move, make sure to put your updated address on your court file.

While you are waiting for your application to be finished:

- If you are the payor and are applying to reduce your support, keep in mind that MEP will not change your support until the court in the other province has made an order.
- If you cannot afford to pay the same amount of support, you should apply to the court for a Stay of Enforcement. Ask us how to do that.
