Saskatchewan, Alberta and B.C. launch New West Partnership

Edmonton... Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan launched the New West Partnership today, creating an economic powerhouse of nine million people with a combined GDP of more than $550 billion.

The New West Partnership is an ambitious agreement that will create Canada's largest interprovincial barrier-free trade and investment market and see the three westernmost provinces work together in unprecedented ways to the benefit of workers, businesses and investors in all three provinces.

"This represents an historic step forward for western provinces, as they work together to provide economic leadership," Saskatchewan Premier Brad Wall said. "We are combining the strength of our three vibrant economies and working together to create lasting prosperity. Our three provinces have created a model that cements the West as the economic powerhouse of Canada."

The three provinces signed the New West Partnership at the third joint British Columbia-Alberta-Saskatchewan Cabinet meeting in Regina. Building on shared strengths, the New West Partnership contains four components.

- A comprehensive economic agreement, which will remove remaining barriers to trade, investment and labour mobility, further enhancing the competitiveness of Canada's Western Provinces.
- An international co-operation agreement that will see the three provinces co-operate on trade and investment missions to international markets, and share foreign market intelligence to advance joint interests and increase business competitiveness.
- An innovation agreement, which will enable provincial innovation efforts to be co-ordinated to better attract investment and talent, helping build critical mass of innovation activities in the West.
- A procurement agreement that will enable the provinces to capitalize on their combined buying power through the joint procurement of goods and services.

"To compete in the 21st century global economy, governments must work together to break down barriers and create opportunity," said Alberta Premier Ed Stelmach. "The New West Partnership creates more choice for businesses, workers and consumers. It allows the west to market itself as one region to bolster export development and attract investment."

"In today's global economy we need to break down barriers and open trade within our borders to build a stronger Canada," British Columbia Premier Gordon Campbell said. "The New West Partnership creates a strong economic alliance in Western Canada that will build stronger connections between our provinces and improve our competitiveness."

The first major undertaking of the New West Partnership will be a joint mission to China and Japan in May. Together, the three provinces will promote trade and commerce opportunities with Canada's newest free trade region and draw attention to the New West's global leadership in clean technology, natural resources, and agri-food and agriculture.

The Premiers will also highlight Western Canada's many geographic and infrastructure advantages, including the region's multi-modal Pacific Gateway and Corridor transportation system, and their unwavering support for open skies and open trade with the Asia Pacific region.

The New West Partnership

- The New West Partnership is a new and far-reaching economic partnership between the Governments of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan. The three provinces commit to ongoing collaboration on innovative ways to strengthen the economy of the West.
- Through the New West Partnership, the three provinces will foster strong, vibrant and lasting prosperity for the region and our people. Innovative and competitive businesses will be even more attracted to the region.
- The New West Partnership focuses on four areas key to economic growth in the West: trade; international cooperation; innovation; and procurement.

Trade

- The New West Partnership Trade Agreement is a comprehensive agreement to remove barriers to trade, investment and labour mobility between British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan.
- The agreement covers all public sector entities, including government ministries and their agencies, boards and commissions, Crown corporations, municipalities, school boards and publicly-funded academic, health and social service organizations.
- The New West Partnership Trade Agreement comes into effect on July 1, 2010. Saskatchewan will fully implement the agreement by July 1, 2013. An implementation schedule is attached as Appendix A.
- The New West Partnership Trade Agreement satisfies Saskatchewan's concerns regarding public ownership of Crown corporations and the ability of municipalities to support economic development.
- The key elements of the New West Partnership Trade Agreement are:
  - non-discrimination: workers and businesses from the three provinces will be treated equally;
  - transparency: provinces will notify each other to ensure that new measures, including standards and regulations, are not unnecessarily different or result in new impediments to trade, investment or labour mobility;
  - legitimate objectives: provinces continue to have the flexibility to protect important public interests, such as public security and safety, human, animal or plant life or health, the environment, the health and safety of workers and the provision of social services and health services;
  - streamlined regulations: unnecessary differences in provinces' business and occupation-related regulations and standards will be eliminated;
  - procurement: public procurements will be conducted openly and transparently, ensuring equal opportunity for suppliers in all three provinces. Information on the procurements covered by the agreement is attached as Appendix B; and
  - dispute resolution: the three governments demonstrate their serious commitment to the New West Partnership Trade Agreement by including the possibility of financial penalties up to $5 million if a government is found to be non-compliant with its obligations, and that government subsequently fails to bring itself into compliance.

International COOPERATION

- Under the New West Partnership International Cooperation Agreement, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia will collaborate on high-quality, cost-effective joint international initiatives, including:
  - undertaking joint missions or marketing visits;
  - sharing resources in international markets, such as co-locating marketing offices or personnel; and
  - sharing market intelligence in areas of common interest.
- The first major outcome of the New West Partnership will be a joint mission led by the three Premiers to China and Japan from May 14-22, 2010.

Innovation

- Under the New West Partnership Innovation Agreement, the provinces will work together to coordinate provincial activities in research and development (R&D), including:
- maintaining and sharing information on R&D activities in each of the provinces; and
- undertaking joint innovation projects or activities.
- Initial joint activities the provinces will undertake include:
- advancing carbon capture and storage technology;
- exploring opportunities in value-added forestry to support diversification of this sector; and
- sharing information on R&D activities for the purpose of identifying further opportunities for collaboration.

Procurement

- Under the New West Partnership Procurement Agreement, the provinces will work together to jointly purchase goods and services in order to achieve efficiencies and cost-savings.
- This could include joint purchasing of health supplies or common government supplies (e.g., paper or office supplies) and the standardization of procurement templates and contracts.
