NOTICE TO RECIPIENT AND PAYOR:

YOU MAY OBJECT to this Recalculation Decision by commencing an application to court to vary, suspend or terminate your child support order by November 15, 2010. (If you have a child support agreement instead of an order, you must commence an application for a child support order by this date.) You must provide a copy of the application to the Child Support Recalculation Program.

If an application is not commenced, this Recalculation Decision will come into effect on November 16, 2010. The first payment of your recalculated amount is due on December 1, 2010. The obligation to pay the recalculated proportionate share(s) of special or extraordinary expenses commences on November 16, 2010.

This Recalculation Decision has been sent to both parties and to the court for filing. A copy has also been sent to the Maintenance Enforcement Program (MEP) if your Order was registered with MEP.

Updated income information was not received from the payor by the required date. As 2 years have passed since the payor's guideline income was last determined, the payor's income was deemed to have increased by 16%. The authority for the deemed income increase came from s. 55.51 of the Family Law Act or an order of the court.

The recipient's 2009 Canada Revenue Agency Notice of Assessment / Reassessment, tax return and an Income Questionnaire completed by the recipient.
