

Alberta Energy Rebate

Putting money back in Albertans' pockets

Overview

Alberta's government is introducing a new one-time Alberta Energy Rebate to help with the cost of groceries, fuel and other everyday essentials. Starting July 1, 2026, eligible Albertans can apply to get $100 through our secure online portal.

The rebate will replace the Fuel Tax Relief Program that would have taken effect on July 1, 2026. The rebate provides 50 per cent more in savings per person than the average Albertan would have saved on fuel taxes over three months, while offering more choice and flexibility on how families spend it.

Applications will be accepted from July 1, 2026, to September 30, 2026.

Eligibility

To qualify, applicants must meet all of the following criteria:

- You must be 18 years of age or older as of July 1, 2026.
- You must be an Alberta resident.
- You must have filed your 2025 tax return.
- Your total household annual income must be $225,000 or less.

For the purposes of Alberta Energy Rebate eligibility, a household is defined as a single individual or two individuals who are married or in a common-law relationship.

Albertans 18 years of age or older living at the same address, but who are not married or common-law, would be considered separate households. This includes:

- roommates
- children over the age of 18
- other adult family members living in the same home

Each eligible adult will need to apply separately to receive a payment.

Albertans receiving the Alberta Seniors Benefit and those enrolled in Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) – including AISH clients transitioned to the Alberta Disability Assistance Program (ADAP) – and Income Support will automatically be enrolled to receive their rebate with no application required. New clients who are enrolled in these programs after July 1 will need to apply through the portal.

Rebates will be delivered by e-transfer directly to your bank account or by email within 14 days of applying. This prevents rebates from going to the wrong account and reduces fraud and manual errors. Rebates are non-taxable and will not affect other government benefits.

Note: Only one application per individual is permitted. All applications will be reviewed and validated to confirm eligibility.

Household income calculation

Household income is calculated based on the amounts reported on your and, if applicable, your spouse or common-law partner's 2025 tax return with the Canada Revenue Agency.

The household income measure is the sum of the following calculation for both the individual and their spouse or common-law partner, if applicable:

- Total income (line 15000), minus:
 - split pension amounts (line 21000)
 - tuition expenses (line 32000)
 - medical expenses for self, spouse/common-law partner or dependent children under the age of 18 (line 33099)
 - medical expenses for other dependents (line 33199)

How to apply

Step 1: Log into your verified Alberta.ca account

If you don't have an account, you can sign up directly on Alberta.ca.

Step 2: Verify your information

Applicants need to ensure:

- Your mailing address on your Alberta driver's licence or identification card matches the information in your Alberta.ca account.

Step 3: Register through the online portal at alberta.ca/alberta-energy-rebate

Once logged into the payment portal, you will need to provide:

- Your Social Insurance Number (SIN)
- The SIN, date of birth, legal given name(s), and legal last name of your spouse or common-law partner as reported on your 2025 income tax return (if applicable)

Step 4: Set up your payment method

Payments will be sent via e-transfer to your bank account using Interac's Verification Service.

Step 5: Save and submit your application

- You can pause and return to your application at any time; progress is saved automatically.
- Once submitted, changes can not be made.
- Please allow up to 14 days for review after submission.

Need help?

If you have questions about the Alberta Energy Rebate, please email: AlbertaEnergyRebate@gov.ab.ca or call 780-401-4014 or toll free 1-844-401-4014. The call centre is open Monday to Friday, 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., including Canada Day.

If you need assistance with your Alberta.ca account, please contact the Alberta.ca account team at 1-844-643-2789.

Important: Do not include any personal or confidential information in your email.